

Goths

- Goths, like any art for young people born out of music. In appearance, they differ in the prevalence of black clothes and cosmetics, as well as the symbols related to death - the teeth, crosses, inverted crosses, pentagrams, and so on. During the existence of this subculture Goth has not developed its own ideology to be followed. The only thing that remains constant and permanent representatives of this movement - long face and the prevalence of decadence in the mood.

