

Complex

Carbohydrates is the main source of energy for our body.

They provide 50-60% of caloric content of food.

Carbohydrates divide in two groups: simple (monosaccharides) and complex (bioses and polysaccharides).

Complex carbohydrates are more long acquired but thus you won't grow stout.

